Exceptional Development Opportunity in Archidona – Ideal for Education, Healthcare or Residential Care Opportunities of this scale and flexibility are increasingly difficult to find. Set on a substantial urban plot of 12,692 m² in the historic town of Archidona, this purpose-built institutional property offers investors, developers and operators the chance to create a landmark facility in one of Andalucía's most strategically connected locations. Originally designed as a private educational centre, the development has been constructed with future expansion in mind. The existing building occupies only a portion of the site's available development potential, creating significant scope for extension, additional buildings and adaptation to a wide variety of commercial or institutional uses. The rectangular main building is of modern construction, featuring a steel frame structure and hollow-core slab floors. Two of the three planned levels have been completed, with provision already incorporated for future stair and...
